FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

STATE LEGISLATORS TO BE HONORED BY THE LEAGUE OF ARIZONA CITIES AND TOWNS DURING ANNUAL CONFERENCE

PHOENIX — The League of Arizona Cities and Towns will honor 41 members of the Arizona Legislature for their work during the 2014 legislative session at the organization’s annual conference on Thursday, August 21 in Phoenix. The legislators are being recognized for their support of cities and towns in their districts and statewide and their commitment to local government decision making.

“This bipartisan group of legislators is committed to serving the people of the state of Arizona,” said Clarkdale Mayor and League President Doug Von Gausig. “They recognize that the level of government closest to the people is most efficient and accessible, and they are committed to keeping cities and towns attractive places for people to live and work.”

The League’s legislative agenda includes two basic, core principles: commitment to local decision-making by the elected leaders of cities and towns, and a commitment to the revenue sharing system established by the voters through a series of initiative measures.

“The state of Arizona is prosperous only to the extent its cities and towns are strong,” said League Executive Director Ken Strobeck. “Cities and towns are where the economic activity of the state occurs and where nearly 80 percent of the people live,” he said. “Cities and towns are most effective when we work in partnership with state government since we serve the same constituents.”
